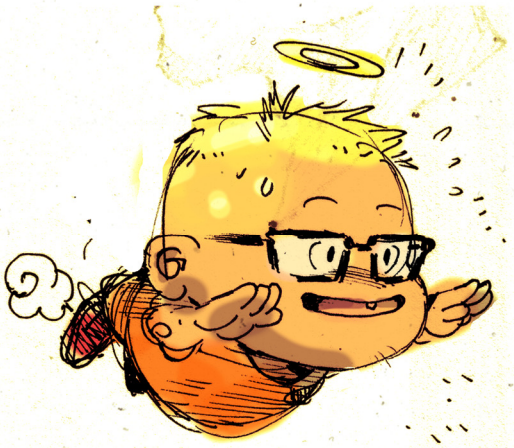
HIGHSCHOOL MURDER CLUB



I guess it's almost become a yearly tradition, putting out these sketchbooks. This year, the sketchbook also serves to prove to myself that 2015 wasn't a total waste of time.

Some of these sketches are at a horrible low resolution — drawn while supposedly on duty in the army, and captured on my phone's camera, in case you were wondering why some of this looks worse than usual.

As always, thanks for following this stuff, for reading my comics and for being patient enough to wait for new ones. There are (mercifully) a few interesting things planned for 2016, so please look forward to it.

Until then —

GAME OVER
